COUNCIL DEFERS
CUTOFF ACTION;
PLAN IS TABLED

Recommendation on Traffic Problem Submitted
By Committee

THOROUGH STUDY
IS SUGGESTED

Merchants Thank Solons, Renew Pledges of Co-operation

City council Tuesday night deferred action on the proposed "cutoff" highway around the southern side of Salem by approving the city's recommendation that the matter be tabled, temporarily, at least.

Members of the committee are C.
F. Zimmerman, chairman, Fred Ehrenreich and John C. Litty.

Report Submitted
Their full report and recommendation which council adopted
last night.

"We the members of the streets,
alms and sidewalks committee
have gone over the route of the proposed highway around Salem.
While we agree that the traffic
problem in Salem is badly in need of a solution, we question the wisdom of routing traffic so far away from the business center. We believe that no hasty action should be taken on this matter but that all possible routes should be first carefully considered with a view to relieving the traffic situation and at the same time not diverting transaction business too far away from the business district.

"We therefore recommend that action on this matter be tabled until a council has made a thorough study of the entire situation."

Approve Recommendation Council approved the group's recommendation upon a motion by Councillman-at-Large Litty and A.
J. Morris.

A few of the downtown merchants were at the council session and C. W. Kaminsky, speaking in their behalf, thanked council for its action. Kaminsky also pledged the cooperation of the merchants in planning other means of relieving traffic congestion.

Miss Schaeffer, 96;
She and Sister, 90,
Read, Recite Poetry

Miss Mary Schaeffer, who celebrated her 96th birthday today,
and her sister, Miss Sue Schaeffer,
who will be 91 in September,
will read and recite poetry at their home in Damascus where they have lived for the last 29 years.

They enjoy reading and reciting poetry which they have learned since their girlhood, reading the Bible and recalling incidents of early days.

After a sister, familiarly known to Damascus residents as "Aunt Mary"
and "Aunt Sue," have lived together their entire lives. They were born on a farm near North Benton
where they lived until moving to Damascus.

Miss Mary Schaeffer recalls a time at her home by a band of friendly Indians when she was a child and many other incidents connected with the early history of the community and vicinity.

They enjoy fairly good health,
although they seldom leave their home. In previous years they were active in church work and the affairs of the W. C. T. U.

They attribute their long life to being temperate in all things.

Among Those On Missing Liner

Lola Totter

Fred Whittemore

Three men, four women and two children were aboard a new air transport which disappeared in the mountains of southern California while flying from Burbank, Cal., to Las Vegas, Nev. Among those aboard were Lola Totter and Fred Whittemore, both employes of Northwest Airlines company which was to put the plane into operation after completion of the trial flight on which it was lost.

Council Appeals To State
For Crossing Protection

No Word From P. R. R. Officials So Letter Is Sent to Utilities Commission Inspector

With still no word received from Pennsylvania railroad officials regarding the improvement of crossing protection here, city council last night instructed Clerk Paul Meyers
to write W. E. Harrington, inspector for the state public utilities commission.

Said He Would Help
Inspector Harrington previously had advised Solicitor Lozier Caplan
that he would help the city get better protection at the W. Pershing and Wilson st. crossings if his services were needed. The motion for this action was introduced last night by Councillman-at-Large Charles Rheutan, chairman of the safety committee.

Councillman-at-Large A. P. Morris, who seconded the motion,
pointed out that during the summer months there is a decided increase in traffic in Salem and that the crossing protection is certainly needed. The two crossings which the city seeks to have protected 24 hours a day now are guarded only part of the time.

Emmor H. Taylor, Second ward
councillman, suggested that council
recommend to the Pennsylvania railroad the construction of viaducts or overhead bridges at the dangerous crossings in the city.

Ask Street Paving
City council last night accepted a petition signed by residents of W.
Fifth st. between N. Ellsworth and Gignings avenues, requesting that the street be paved as a WPA project.

The petition was delivered personally by the W. Fifth st. residents who announced they were ready to put up their assessment share of expense for the job.

The solons, upon a motion introduced by Councillman Zimmerman, approved the expenditure of one
retained by council April 5, 1937,
and that he acted as counsel for the
city until the last case had been
disposed of in common pleas court
at Lisbon on or about Jan. 15, 1937.

The attorney claims other counsel, employed by the city solicitor,
has been paid.

Atty. Coburn, in a letter to council, recalled that he had been
retained by council April 5, 1921,
and that he acted as counsel for the
city until the last case had been
disposed of in common pleas court
at Lisbon on or about Jan. 15, 1937.

The attorney claims other coun-
sel, employed by the city solicitor,
has been paid.

Fairfield Seniors
Are Given T. B. Test

The tuberculin test was given
Monday to the Seniors in Fairfield Centralized school under the direction of Dr. Chester Dewalt of Columbiana, assisted by Mrs. Mary McNeelan, nurse from the county
health office.

Twenty-four of the 28 members of the Senior class or about 90 per cent had their parents' permission to take the test. Officials report that this is the highest percentage thus far.

The test is sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Columbiana and by the Columbiana County Public Health League.

The Seniors in the Columbiana
High school will be given the test
today under the direction of Dr.
Harry Bookwalter.

ASKS SPEED IN

Stresses Danger of 'Gaps'
In Relief Administration

CLEVELAND, May 18.—Mayor
Harold H. Burton urged "all possible speed" today as a state house of representatives committee opened an investigation of Cleveland's relief crisis.

While the legislators mapped a course of action last night in one wing of city hall, the council chamber echoed with the laughter, applause and boos of relief clients
assembled in a sit-down protest against curtailment of food orders.

Number Increases
Their number increased temporarily from 150 to nearly 500, the demonstrators who took over the richly furnished chamber Monday night were treated to a program of speeches and song.

To the representatives who are to report by June 1 to a special relief session of the legislature at Columbus, Mayor Burton said:

"I want to urge all possible speed
in getting passed the legislation
which is needed.

"The danger in these gaps in relief administration is that whenever there is a let-down in sending out food, those who do not believe in our present form of government take advantage to point out to persons who are hungry—and cannot understand why—that this is an example of the weakness of the democratic system.

"With times as they are throughout the world, this is a very dangerous thing to have happen."

Burton told the investigators all municipal facilities were at their disposal and added: "We are not perfect here—we have just been doing the best we know how."

Committee Divided
The legislators divided into three subcommittees to study the city's actual relief administration, to investigate municipal finances and to check relief cases picked at random.

"We expect to be able to cover
about 500 cases and we think this will give us a cross-section of the whole picture," said Committee Chairman A. Lee Fair D-Holmes.

He said the committee would be aided by a score of "trained investigators" to rid relief rolls of "chiselers."

ADAM FILES FOR COUNTY AUDITOR

John H. Irwin, Incumbent, Announces Withdrawal from Contest

LISBON, May 18.—Ray T. Adam,
chief deputy in the office of County Auditor John H. Irwin, today announced his candidacy for auditor on the Republican ticket at the
Aug. 9 primary.

At the same time, Irwin, who
a month ago announced he would be a candidate for re-nomination,
announced his withdrawal from the race. Irwin took office in 1931 and has served two consecutive terms. His retirement will be effective in March, 1939.

Adam, born and reared in East
Liverpool, has been a resident of Lisbon for five years. When in East Liverpool he was a real estate broker. During the war he served overseas with the 302nd motor transport corp. He is married and has one daughter.

Continue Cases

LISBON, May 18.—The cases of Clyde Richardson and William Boyle of Columbiana, twice indicted
on charges of exhibiting a gambling device, today were continued until June 13 by Judge W. F. Lones.

Relief, In Various Forms, Provided
By Salem Salvation Army Workers

Relief to many transients as well as local families was provided by the Salvation Army
last year, according to the report of Capt. S. Shannon.

Service to 16 transient families
included 62 meals and 40 beds,
and 160 meals were served to individual transients. In the latter group 75 beds were provided and 68 pairs of shoes and 75 garments were donated.

Relief for Salem families included 600 garments, 54 pairs of shoes and 93 pieces of furniture.

Californian Says Ship
Burned; Counts Sev-

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—The sheriff's office received a report
from a Mint canyon rancher today
that he had sighted the charred
wreckage of the missing Lockheed
air liner and all nine persons aboard
were dead.

Officials estimated it would take several hours to reach the wreckage and they expected difficulty in bringing the bodies out of the rough Sierra Pelona region which Peterson described as the scene of the tragic end to a short-cut taken by the liner that had yet to be delivered into transport service.

Peterson said the plane "was all burned up." He peered inside the cabin, he said, and counted seven bodies. The two child passengers escaped his notice.

Diversified Program Is Presented
Following Dinner At Masonic Temple

Wives and friends of Salem Rotarians were guests of the club's annual Ladies' Night dinner-party at the Masonic temple last night. Approximately 75 attended the affair.

The program, which was arranged
by Dr. G. A. Roese and Dr. L. W.
King, included a talk by Mrs. Margaret Bevan Gealy of Pittsburgh,
violin solos by John L. Hundert-
mark, vocal solos by Miss Kathryn Cesna, ventriloquism exhibition by W. F. Ross.

A short cantata, "Dawn of Spring"
was sung by a Columbiana women's quartet composed of Mrs. F. E.
Griffin, Mrs. Clarence Shontz, Mrs.
Virginia Felger and Mrs. Roy Weaver. They were accompanied by Mrs. E. T. Coyle.

The temple was attractively decorated for the party. Ray Pearce and Alden Gross were in charge of the decorations.

son ave. and Jefferson st. The width will be increased four feet
from Jefferson street to Vine.

Thomas Kennedy

George H. Earle

Above—Here are Pennsylvania's present senators as they voted in the hotly contested primary which bore national significance because of the feud in the state Democratic party. Senator James J. Davis, present Republican incumbent and nominee for re-election and Mrs.
Davis, left, cast their votes at their home poll in Pittsburgh East End,
while Senator Joseph Guffey, right, Democratic leader who teamed with John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief, to back Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia for the Democratic senatorial nominee and Lieut. Gov.
Thomas Kennedy as their gubernatorial choice, registers his selections.
Kennedy for governor and Gov. George Earle, of the other Democratic faction, for senator.

Below—A winner and a loser; Earle, who triumphed over Mayor
Wilson; and CIO's Tom Kennedy, who lost to Charles Alvin Jones, of Pittsburgh, for the governor nomination.

Taylor Refuses
To Sign Report On Dual Job-Holding

COLUMBUS, May 18.—Dual job-holding state employees were criticized today in the third partial report of the senate graft
hunting committee.

The report also noted the "good fortune" of Mrs. Myrna Smith in receiving $6,500 annually as Gov.
Martin L. Davey's secretary.

Dual-salaried employees mentioned in the report included:
Mrs. Smith's husband, Barton
Smith, $333 monthly from separate divisions of the industrial relations department; Mrs. Smith's brother-in-law, Harry Cole, $390
monthly as chief clerk in two divisions of one department, and Willard Archer of Belle Valley, $12-28 in 22 months as a liquor department inspector and operator
of a liquor agency.

Branding the report a "purely political" document, Sen. John Taylor (D-Columbiana) declined to sign it.

Signers were Sens. Ralph J. Sei-dner (D-Mahoning), Verner E.
McEliff (R-Washington) and A. D.
Baumhart (R-Erie). Sen. Tom Gallagher (D-Cuyahoga) was absent.

Archer was dismissed as an inspector three months ago after the committee disclosed his dual positions.

Primary Returns

Philadelphia, May 18.—Returns in Pennsylvania's primary:

Democratic U. S. senator—(7309 of 8,975 districts)—Earle,
714,083; Wilson, 294,617.

Democratic governor—(7359 districts)—Jones, 553,261; Kennedy, 458,129; Margiotti, 155, 556.

Republican U. S. senator — (7258 districts)—Davis, 737,033;
Owlett, 422,111.

Republican governor — (7295 districts)—James, 889,960; Pin-chot, 403,088.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The Pennsylvania bid for political power by John L. Lewis and the Committee for Industrial Organization
faded today as returns from primary balloting gave the opposing Democratic state committee slate
a sizable lead.

Apparently turned back with Lewis, on the basis of incomplete
returns, was Senator Joseph P.
Guffey who joined the CIO chief in supporting Thomas Kennedy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and Philadelphia's Mayor
S. Davis Wilson for the U. S. Senate.

Farley Also Loses
The state New Deal factional struggle, intensified by organized labor's rivalries, was climaxed by this primary-day intervention of
"Boss" Democratic Chairman
James A. Farley.

Gov. George H. Earle, who rebuffed Farley in the latter's seventh-hour party peace plan,
and whose split with Senator Guffey had shaken Pennsylvania's New Deal organization to its foundations, walked away from Wilson.

Charles Alvin Jones of Pittsburgh, Earle's running-mate for the gubernatorial nomination whom Farley proposed to sacrifice for Kennedy, built up a lead of more than 90,000 votes over Kennedy,
secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers.

Political observers debated whether Farley's proposal that Democrats unite on Kennedy for governor and Governor Earle for the U. S. senate had any effect on yesterday's voting. Earle criticized Farley for "interfering."

G. O. P. Fight Overshadowed
In the Republican fight, far overshadowed by the bitter Democratic battle, 72-year-old Gifford Pin-chot was thwarted in a drive for a third term as governor and silver-aired Senator James J. (Puddler Jim) Davis piled up a seemingly insurmountable lead for renomaination.

Charles J. Margiotti, ousted
state attorney general, "lone wolf" candidate and No. 1 champion of the Democratic gubernartural row, ran a poor third. Eddie McCloskey, ex-puglist and once mayor of Johnstown, fell far out of the running as a Democratic senatorial candidate.

Jones, be-spectacled and soft-voiced, came to the campaign from a relatively obscure but active legal and political career. He won a French citation for heroism as a World war ambulance driver, later
enlisted with the American forces.

He went to the 1932 Democratic convention as an Alfred E. Smith
backer, but swung to Roosevelt
after the final ballot. The Jones family—three children—live in a Pittsburgh suburb.

Earle, too, won World war honors
as a lieutenant commander in the navy. He had been a Republican but joined the New Deal six years ago and was appointed minister to Austria. He became governor in a Democratic sweep of this then traditionally Republican state in 1934.

STOP GAP

The state legislature has convened again to do something about the relief crisis and to collect mileage allowances. What it will do about the first is problematic; the second isn't.

There is, first of all, a relief crisis in Ohio cities, which have been hit hardest by subnormal industrial activity. Even cornstalk legislators have to admit that much.

It is going to cost a lot of money to take care of direct relief the rest of the year, and the money isn't available. The cities don't have it, and the state doesn't have it.

The cities insist, however, that the state can get it, and that is the problem confronting the legislature. Rather, it is three problems: Should the state get it, how should the state get it and how much should be gotten?

This situation isn't peculiar to Ohio, though this state's abnormally large relief load makes it more troublesome here. From the beginning, this state and all others, also the federal government, have followed a policy of crossing relief bridges when they came to them. Like a parent doing out money to a child, they have handed out what they thought they could afford at the time—always a little less than was requested—always a little more than they thought they could afford.

This is known as the stop-gap approach. Ohio now sees it in operation again.

OIL

It's worth remembering that the present Mexican crisis, with its shivery overtures of fascist revolt and international hostility, sprang from the shafts of Mexican oil wells.

It is not exaggeration to say, as oil men sometimes do, that oil has become an essential of life, ranking close to shelter and food.

Without oil, machinery cannot run, and this is a machine age. Transportation would be at a standstill. Military operations would turn back to the era of slowly moving foot soldiers. Nations must have oil to survive, if they're worth saving.

To put it another way, nations which have oil, access to oil, have a tremendous advantage over nations which lack this vital commodity. Without oil, Italy would not have conquered Ethiopia; Japan could not wage war in China; the rebels could not be fighting the loyalists in Spain.

Mexico has oil—oil which many nations, including the United States, want. It is for that reason that an amicable settlement of the squabble it started by expropriating British and American oil properties is probable. The question isn't whether Mexico will be able to sell the oil it can produce, but where it will be sold.

The United States and Great Britain may be depended on to be at least as realistic as their fascist neighbors in working out a solution to this vital problem.

COMFORT THAT DOESN'T COMFORT

Army airmen are said to be sure, as a result of their war fumes, that they can raise hob with a bombing attack if they have ample warning. This is comfort that doesn't comfort.

Joe Louis could have kept inside Max Schmeling's right if he had been given ample warning. The battleship Maine wouldn't have been blown up if its crew had been given ample warning. The pie in the oven wouldn't burn if the cook had ample warning.

The clearest explanation of what aerial warfare is all about consists of figures showing how long in advance the English flying force, for instance, would have to know about an air raid on London in order to get into the air and fly toward the enemy far enough to keep any bombs from being dropped on London. What it amounts to is that defenders would have to know about the raid at just about the instant the raiders got into the air. It can't be done.

In the United States, fortunately, likely places to drop bombs are so far away from the air bases of any conceivable enemy that an air raid would be at least a day, even with faster planes than exist now, in getting here—and then the raiders still would have to worry about getting home. Geographical position and lack of a likely enemy continue to be this country's most precious military asset, war game precautions to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, May 19

Judging by the lunar transits operating on this day, there may be lucrative financial transactions, with some cherished plans going over with the aid of influential persons, with whom diplomacy, stratagem or undercover agreements may have to be employed. It might be well to be vigilant in such subtle affairs and not be left "holding the bag," particularly with strangers or persons not too scrupulous.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a prosperous and interesting year if he will exercise discretion and sound judgment. It may be necessary to resort to undercover agreements, diplomacy or connivance rather than direct and open measures. But new adventures and enterprises should be favored, possibly by unseen forces or secrecy.

A child born on this day may be capable, ambitious and shrewd, particularly versatile in subtlety, diplomacy or hidden resources. These should advance its prestige and position in life, attracting to it important persons with peculiar or secret support of the mighty.

ARE ALL THE LITTLE BOYS AND GIRLS ATTENDING STRICTLY TO BUSINESS?

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York City.

DIARRHEA Recently I wrote about the daily discharges of the infant. In this way may be found the first indication of some disturbance in the health.

Today I want to tell you about diarrhea in infants. It is used to be a common and serious medical problem. Indeed, it was once the most common cause of infant deaths.

I am glad to say it is no longer a serious menace to the health and life of infants. This happy change is due to the improvements in infant feeding. The assurance of pure milk supply, protection and preservation of foodstuffs, and the proper clothing and bathing of infants, have helped to wipe out this disease. Though the disease has not completely disappeared, it rarely occurs in epidemic form, as it did years ago. A generation ago a quarter of the babies born died within the first year of life.

Common in Summer Everybody knows that it is during the hot, humid weather of summer that diarrhea of infants is most common. Perhaps it is not

When diarrhea occurs there is a marked withdrawal of fluid from the body. The stools are small and frequent, containing mucus, blood and pus. Evacuation is accompanied by discomfort and even severe pain.

If a child shows symptoms of diarrhea, it is well to place him on a starvation diet for 12 to 24 hours. Fluids, perhaps in the form of barley water, or weak tea sweetened with saccharine, may be given.

If the diarrhea persists beyond this time, your doctor should be consulted.

Hotel Slaying Rocks Michigan

Jack Livingston with sheriff

One of the most sensational murders in Detroit's history resulted in murder charges being drawn against Jack Livingston, wealthy oil operator, shown with Sheriff George Bates, above. He was charged with fatally wounding a prominent politician and former business associate, Isiah Leebow, in the bar of a smart hotel in Clare, Detroit suburb. Leebow was reported to be a former associate of Jack "Legs" Diamond, New York gangster, and Arnold Rothstein, famous gambler, both of whom were slain. Police said they thought Leebow was slain because of losses suffered by business associates in recent deal. Livingston pleading not guilty, was held without bail.

GOVERNMENT-UTILITIES COOPERATION IS URGED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 18. — A proposal for cooperation between the government and the utilities to create thousands of new jobs in the private power industry won substantial support today in the senate.

The suggestion was advanced by Chairman Philip H. Gadsden of the committee of utility executives. Gadsden, testifying yesterday before a senate appropriations subcommittee, asserted the administration's $3,154,000,000 relief and public works bill would permit the PWA to spend "hundreds of millions of dollars" to duplicate existing private utility systems.

Calling for Forgiveness Asking the government to "set boundaries on its policy of duplication," Gadsden added that "bitterness and old wounds" should be forgotten so that the private power industry could become "a mighty machine for creating jobs and spreading social benefits to all the people."

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) of appropriations subcommittee told reporters he thought some limitation would be written into the relief bill which would "prevent private capital from being destroyed without hamstringing the government program of utility construction."

leaze them to municipalities.

Sees Exaggeration

Adams said Gadsden perhaps had exaggerated the danger of this particular section" because few communities would be likely to take advantage of it.

Senator King (D-Utah), a frequent opponent of administration measures, told reporters the leasing provision was "absolutely stupid."

"If we would just say to the utilities that the federal government is not going to try to duplicate their plants and ruin their investments, they would go ahead and spend $1,000,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 on construction and expansion," King said.

Several members of a bloc of Republicans and anti-administration Democrats seeking changes in the relief measure said they would oppose the leasing provision, and would seek to impose restrictions on government duplication of private power facilities.

The appropriations subcommittee arranged to end closed hearings on the spending-lending measure today. Committee men said the bill would reach the senate floor either late this week or Monday.

Other congressional developments: President Roosevelt signed into law the billion-dollar naval expansion program.

picture industry. The house still must act.

The senate sent to the White House a bill authorizing the appointment of 20 additional federal judges.

A house judiciary subcommittee approved a resolution by which congress would petition Gov. Frank Merriam of California to pardon Tom Mooney, convicted of the 1916 Preparedness day bombing in San Francisco.

"Love I Dare Not" by ALLENE CORLISS

CHAPTER XX

It had been months since Tommy had taken Caroline dancing. He was grateful, tonight, to think of it as the first time he had made love to her in Central Park. It had been weeks since that day she had come to his flat. In the meantime he had seen her perhaps half a dozen times. Each time she had been with Alec. Each time she had appeared to be fully absorbed in Alec and quietly interested in him. He told himself that by now there was undoubtedly some sort of understanding between them.

Yet the thought of spending an evening alone with her was making his pulses pound and his blood race. Which was absurd, of course. . . . He forced himself to stop thinking of her a slim, bright-haired child who had clung to him and tried to kiss him in a taxi cab and tried to think of her instead as a successful young actress with a run-of-the-mill contract, who at the end of three months was already making more money each week than he was. After working three years at his own profession.

All the way from Thirty-eighth Street to Times Square, he tried to think of her like this. . . . and as something definitely now to Alec. . . . But it wasn't any good. He knew that any good the moment he entered into the hotel and saw her, sitting quietly in her brown fur coat, her inevitable velvet beret tilted over her eyes, still managing to look after several months of being on the New York stage, as if she had very recently spent most of her time on a college campus.

He looked at her, sitting there waiting for Alec, and he knew that there was any different, that he could never be with her and think of her as belonging to anyone but himself. He knew his coming here was a mistake and that he should have stayed away.

He went quite up to her before she saw him, and when he spoke to her she jumped, and then high as a kite, she came running to him, her hands beginning to tremble. He saw her as much stirred at being met unexpectedly like this as he felt at seeing her. He should have known we couldn't get away with this.

Then he heard himself explaining to a perfectly natural, impersonal voice why he was there instead of Alec, and she was listening to him, her cheeks still stained with that angry color but her eyes no longer looking away as they had in that first moment.

They went presently, at her suggestion, to a small restaurant near her home. She sat opposite him at a white, candlelit table and slipped her arms out of her coat and discovered that she was wearing the same brown velvet dress she had worn that first time he had seen her. Only then it had seemed, to her, a childish dress, and now it didn't.

He had no way of knowing that it was her eyes and not the dress that had changed. They were regarding him quietly, telling him nothing. That other day they had regarded him eagerly, telling him everything.

But she had had a little time to recover herself and she faced him with a composure that she was far from feeling. But however little she had succeeded in the last few months in being cool and detached where he was concerned, and it was pitifully little, at least she had learned to pretend that she was.

She pretended now. Pretended beautifully. She said, her voice sounding a little formal but otherwise friendly enough, "It was nice of you to pinch-hit for Alec like this. I hope it didn't interfere with any other engagements."

Candlelight slid over her softly, laying a warm patina on the bright cloud of her hair, on the creamy slenderness of her throat, on the ardent curve of her young mouth. Tommy looked at her and knew he wanted her more than he had ever wanted anything in his life. She moved, and the candlelight slid over the brown velvet of her frock where it clung to the tender lines of her figure, and he knew that he wanted her, not transiently, as he had wanted other girls at one time or another, not as more recently he had wanted Keranne, but permanently. For as long as they both should live. And because he could not have her at all—either tonight, or any night—he found himself being ungracious to her, even a little rude.

He said, "It interfered slightly, but even if it had interfered seriously I should still have managed to come. You see, it isn't often that I have a chance to do Alec a favor."

It sounded even more ungracious than he had meant it to. But having said it, he let it stand. Even when he saw that he had made her angry. Her voice was proudly removed. "It wasn't at all necessary to go to all that trouble to tell me that otherwise you wouldn't be here. I understand that perfectly."

Tommy regarded her coldly. "I'm sorry. I didn't intend you to understand anything of the kind. Naturally I am delighted at being able to spend an evening alone with you."

Caroline said, steadily, "Are you? I don't think so." Then, less steadily, "Why did you come, anyway? Alec could have had me paged."

"He could have," agreed Tommy concisely, "but he didn't. Let's skip it, shall we? I'm here and we have an evening on our hands. Let's not spend it being disagreeable to each other."

"All right," said Caroline, her voice as off hand now as his, "let's not." For a moment they regarded each other silently, then she said, catching her breath lightly, "I don't want to fight with you, Tommy. I'm glad you're here."

"How glad, Caroline?" No coolness in his voice now. . . . or in his eyes. That sweet, sharp tension between them, that mounting excitement, dangerous, sweet, frightening.

"Very glad," she was smiling at him, her mouth soft and shaken. "Let's be nice to each other." "How nice, Caroline?" "Just . . . nice . . ."

A waiter came and took their order and went away again. It gave them both a little time to remember certain things. It gave Caroline time to remember Tommy's voice saying, "These things happen, Caroline. . . . They're apt to happen to anyone. . . ."

It gave Tommy time to remember that months ago he had turned his back on this sort of thing and that nothing was any different. So they were grateful for the interruption and for being able to start over again without that frightening feeling of emotional urgency between them.

Caroline asked, "Have you had a nice winter? What have you been doing, mostly?"

"Much more point," said Tommy, grinning, "in talking about you. You're the one that's been going places. Alec tells me you have a run-of-the-play contract."

"Yes," she hesitated a moment, then asked in her clear, untroubled voice, "Have you seen the show yet?"

Tommy nodded. She was sweet when she was young and direct like that. She was sweet, anyway, and so damn untouched looking. It was hard to believe she was well on her way to being an important young dramatic actress. You thought of her as belonging out of doors, high on a hilltop, with the wind whipping her hair, and the sun in her eyes.

"Yes, I've seen it," he paused a moment, then added evenly, "As a matter of fact, I saw it the night you opened in Philadelphia."

He thought it was unnecessary and certainly unwise to tell her he had seen it at least a dozen times since it had been running in New York.

She said, the words running together a little unsteadily. "Oh, it was nice of you to do that. To go all the way to Philadelphia to see me. That is," her voice caught softly in a small, embarrassed laugh, "I expect you did go to see me and not just to see the show?"

"Yes," said Tommy, "I went to see you," and left it there. "Well, go on," she leaned forward eagerly, "tell me what you thought of me?"

"I thought you were good. I thought you were so good you could go anywhere you wanted to in show business, even without Alec to help you."

Her eyes instantly grew serious. "He has helped me, I know. Without him, and Rose, I could never have done what I have. . . . He believes in me so much, Tommy, that he makes me believe in myself."

"I know," Tommy offered her a cigarette. When she refused, he lighted one himself, inhaled deeply. "He wants you to be one of the more important young American actresses." Then, without looking at her, and in exactly the same detached, impersonal tone of voice, he said, "He also wants to marry you."

When the silence that followed this remark grew too awkward to bear, he continued relentlessly, "You know, of course, that if you did marry him, it would be a great help to your career."

He wanted to stop. He didn't.

Labor Backs Cardenas in Break With Britain

Minister O'Malley, President Cardenas and Secretary Hay

Declaring themselves completely in support of President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico in his policy of "Mexico for Mexicans", labor and political organizations endorsed his diplomatic break with Great Britain. This rupture in international relations came after Cardenas had handed Owen S. Clair O'Malley, left, a check for $85,000 in the presence of Eduardo Hay, right, secretary of foreign relations, in payment of an indemnity claim for losses suffered by Great Britain in revolutions from 1910 to 1920. Britain's insistence on immediate payment of the claim was described as "insolent" by government officials. Mexico also recalled her envoy from Britain.

Mildred Senese

Aside from ranking as two of the prettier young ladies in Chicago, both these beauties could pass as doubles for two well-known movie stars. Mildred Senese, right, bears an amazing resemblance to the Chinese-American actress, Anna May Wong, although she is of Italian descent, while Beverly Thybony, left, looks much like the English star Madeleine Carroll.

A report on the Fowler orphanage in Cairo, Egypt, by Mrs. Mary Steer.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hutton.

HITS NEW DEAL "INTOLERANCE"

Landon Says Minton Bill Reflects Attitude of So-Called Liberals

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 18.—Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, asserted in a prepared speech Tuesday that "none of us, of this generation, has seen a group so intolerant of the views and beliefs of others as are the so-called New Deal liberals."

"Only a few weeks ago," he told the Inland Daily Press association, "Senator Minton (D-Ind) introduced a measure which is a dire threat to the press. Mr. Minton, it seems, would set up a censorship of newspapers and other publications. A great many people are apt to be misled by the apparent fairness of the proposal. The senator has pointed his bill at those who knowingly publish as fact anything which they know to be false. It would, nevertheless, provide a censorship."

Would Cease To Be Free

"A press, operating under such a law, would cease to be free. Certainly, it could not fairly give both sides of a question if one side happened to represent the views of the federal government or government officials."

"I cannot believe," he averred, "that congress will even take the Minton bill seriously. The dangerous thing about the measure is that it reflects an attitude now prevalent. Apparently it reflects the New Deal attitude toward the press of the country, and I'm afraid it may reflect the President's attitude. The President's views have, no doubt, encouraged Senator Minton and others."

Newspapers, the former Kansas governor said, had always played a vital part in championing traditions of freedom and democracy, "but there are those who would destroy or impair their usefulness. He continued:

Cites Jersey City Case

"When Norman Thomas was forcibly evicted from Jersey City, and two members of the United States house of representatives were not permitted to speak there recently, we were given evidence enough that America is not immune to a tide which is slowly destroying freedom in other parts of the world."

"As a Kansan, I've often smarted under the ridicule heaped upon the middle west by some of the so-called highbrows of some of the older sections. At least, we treated Norman Thomas with respect and tolerance when he came to Kansas to speak. In fact, I introduced him."

PENNSYLVANIA CIO IS BEATEN

Gov. George Earle Walks Away from Mayor Wilson for Nomination

conceded victory to red-haired Judge Arthur H. James of the state superior court. James, an anthracite mine worker in his youth and lieutenant governor a decade ago, carried the standard of the old-line Republican organization.

"I congratulate you on your victory," said a Pinchot telegram to James even before last midnight. James replied:

"When I enter the ring against the New Deal this fall, we are counting on you in our corner."

Virtually the same state leaders who backed James took a loss, however, in the victory of "Puddler Jim" Davis. They had supported G. Mason Owlett, state senator and national committeeman.

The Republicans nominated Samuel S. Lewis for lieutenant governor and W. S. Livengood, Jr. for secretary of internal affairs, both organization men.

Other Committee Candidates win

Democrats nominated state committee-endorsed candidates for two other state offices. State Senator Leo C. Mundy for lieutenant governor and Thomas A. Logue, incumbent, for secretary of internal affairs. The vanquished Lewis-Guffey candidates were Judge Ralph H. Smith and Edith B. Dewitt.

The Democratic turnout was the largest in the party's primary election history. In 1934, previous record primary, the total was 576,000.

Veteran Legman

PITTSBURGH—A man is as old as his legs, believes A. F. Bergman, who celebrates his birthdays by walking a mile for each year of his age. That meant a 51-mile hike for Bergman his last birthday.

A walking "fan" for 33 years, he claims he has hiked a quarter of a million miles since he was 18.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Letters Pouring In For Air Mail Flight

Letters continued to pour into the postoffice today, marked for the first air mail flight from Salem which is to take place at 3:45 p. m. Thursday.
The consignment of mail will be loaded in a plane at the Salem post office on the day of the flight. The pilot will be A. T. Deming of Alliance, former army flier who has been commissioned especially for this flight from Salem to Cleveland.
Leaving Salem at 3:45, the ship is expected to arrive at the Cleveland air port at 4:25. At Cleveland the mail bags will be loaded on regular air mail planes.
Postmaster A. E. Beardmore said that persons who decide to send mail on this special flight should bring it to the postoffice no later than 3 p. m. Thursday and should notify the postoffice clerk that the letter, or letters, are for the special flight.
A Salem air mail cachet will be stamped on all the letters. The flight features the local observance of National Air Mail week, which opened Sunday.

Will Demonstrate Safety of New Tire

One of those things that have to be seen to be believed, the blowout of a tire on a car traveling at upward of 60 miles an hour without serious consequences of any kind, is to be shown in Salem next Monday.

This demonstration will be staged on South Union ave. Local police authorities have consented to the demonstration and will assist in conducting it.

The purpose of this apparently dangerous but really routine performance is to prove that in a car equipped with Lifeguards, tire failure at any speed is no more dangerous than a slow leak. The blowout is induced either by means of railroad spikes firmly fixed in heavy steel plates or by dynamite caps detonated from within the car.

The casing is ripped to shreds, but the car remains in control of the driver and is brought to a smooth, safe stop without weaving or leaving the road. The explanation, according to Mr. Crawford, local tire dealer, is that the Lifeguard, a reserve tire within a tire, is not affected by the destruction of casing or tube but holds air long enough to enable the car to be stopped.

Fugitive Halted By Detective's Gun

YOUNGSTOWN, May 18.—Joseph Kupko, 30, was fatally wounded early today by Detective Earl Hoffman who said Kupko ran away from a fight with a patrolman who reported trying to stop three men attacking a woman.
Patrolman Charles Young, Hoffman and Detective Harry Fickes heard the woman scream. Young said he found the three mistreating her, and when he tried to arrest them, Kupko struck him with his fist and a stick and ran. Young shouted to Hoffman to stop the fugitive, and Hoffman said that when Kupko ignored a command to halt, he fired once. Kupko fell, a bullet hole through his body. He died a short time later.
The woman and two other men, one of whom was said to have been released recently from the Massillon State hospital, were taken into custody.

STEUBENVILLE, May 18.—Police sought John A. Kane, 60, paymaster for the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., today after his family reported that he left home Monday morning and failed to return.

TRACK ATHLETES ROTARY GUESTS

Columbiana High School Squad Honored; Trophies Displayed

COLUMBIANA, May 18.—Coach Waldo Ward and members of the Columbiana High school track team were guests of the Columbiana rotary club Monday evening at Varsity Golf links. Program Chairman Evan Roller introduced Principal Edgar F. Miller, who gave a brief history of local track events and displayed trophies won during the past two years.

The Columbiana County Track association, which held its 35th annual meet Tuesday night at Salem, is the oldest organization of its kind in Ohio, having started in 1903. Columbiana High school had track teams until 1912, but has been participating ever since.

Principal Miller passed around lists of the state Class B records as compared with Columbiana High school records, which showed that improvements of local boys are comparable with any in the state. The state Class B 880-yard relay record was set last year by the local team, 1 minute 31.7 seconds. The Class B pole vault record of 11 feet 10 1/2 inches is also held by a former Columbiana athlete, "Boots" Hawkins, who made this mark at Columbus in 1922.

Coach Waldo Ward introduced the team members present, naming the events in which they compete: Bob and Bill Eschler, Bauer, J. Burkle, Fisher, Dewalt, R. Esswein, Irons, Mollenkopf, and Horn. Supt. C. B. Riggle gave a short talk on "The Value of High School Athletics," stressing five special points: Physical value, educational value, school loyalty and spirit, scholarship value and school advertising.

There were 31 local Rotarians present, also three visitors: Rotarians C. F. Haunton, Canton, and L. Frank Smith, Salem, and H. A. Tuttle, Youngstown. Harry Dill will be in charge of next week's meeting.

Judge H. W. Hammond will be guest speaker this evening at the monthly meeting of the Churchmen's brotherhood of Grace Reformed church. E. P. Funkhouser is program chairman and the refreshment committee is composed of Carl Keller, D. L. Lusk, Harvey Hisey, Dr. C. W. Kellogg and K. W. Ferrall.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet at 2:30 this afternoon at the home of Mrs. K. T. Gormley, Rev. J. C. Wilson will give a report of the meeting he directed recently at Marietta.

Governor Rivers

Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia, seen at White House, is said to have President Roosevelt's support in his effort to defeat anti-New Dealer Senator Walter F. George, in primary. Former Governor Eugene Talmadge, bitter anti-New Dealer, also has entered the race. Gov. Rivers' opponents allege that he had former Klan connections. Senator George has been an opponent of the wages' and hours' measure.

The annual May party of the Sorosis club is being held today at Varsity Golf links.

Miss Martha Souder, who recently submitted to an operation for appendicitis at the Salem City hospital, was brought to her home here Monday.

SALEM COPS THIRD COUNTY TRACK-FIELD TITLE

LUTSCH PACES QUAKERS WITH THREE FIRSTS

Columbiana Finishes In Second Place; Palestine Is Third

With big Max Lutsch gaining three firsts to lead the way, Coach Fred Cope's Salem High school track and field team won their third straight Columbiana county track and field championship at Rely stadium last night.

Scoring five firsts and placing in every one of the 14 events, the Quakers piled up 57 points to win the 35th annual meet over four other county schools. A small crowd, estimated to have been about 1,500, braved a steady drizzle of rain to watch the competition.

The Quakers' victory came as a surprise to most track and field observers, who had picked Columbiana's small but mighty team to win the championship. As it was, Columbiana finished second with 47 points. East Palestine was third with 33½ points, while Lisbon was fourth with 10½ points and Leetonia fifth with six.

Columbiana gained more first places than any other team — chalking up six — but could not keep pace with Salem in putting up seconds, thirds and fourths. The Entriens twins, Bill and Bob, scored all but one of Columbiana's firsts.

Bill Entriens, who captured individual honors in the meet with 164 points, won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, while Bob was first in the high and low hurdles. The two Entriens also ran with Columbiana's 880-yard relay team, which won its event in the splendid time of 1 minute, 34.7 seconds.

Lutsch paced the Quakers by scoring firsts in the discus, shot put and high jump. He heaved the round platter 118 feet, 2 inches, tossed the shot put 46 feet, 6 inches and leaped six feet in the high jump to come within one inch of his own record of six feet, one inch.

In addition to Lutsch's firsts, the Quakers also won the pole vault and the mile relay and secured a tie for first in the half-mile run. Cliff Lowry won the pole vault for Salem by clearing the bar at 11 feet, while the team of Amos Dunlap, Jim Arment, John Hanslick and Jim Dickey reached the top of the pole vault. Harold Culler ran a dead heat with Landsberger of East Palestine in the 880-yard run. East Palestine registered firsts in the 440-yard dash and the mile run. Ben Maloy won the 440 in 53.4 seconds after a stiff battle with Armeni of Salem, while Landsberger gave Palestine a victory in the mile run. Charles Huddleston of Salem was second in the mile run, while the Quakers' mile relay team, consisting of Culler, finished fourth. Joe Morris contributed eight points to the Quakers' total by finishing second in the 100-yard dash and high hurdles and third in the 220-yard dash.

The Quakers gained other points in Bill Schaeffer's third in the high hurdles, Bob Clark's tie for second in the pole vault, Dickey's third in the 440, Jim Turner's tie for third in the high jump, Dunlap's second in the low hurdles and fourth in the broad jump and a fourth place in the 880-yard relay.

DISCUS—Lutsch (Salem) won; Marucca (Lisbon) second; Huson (E. Palestine) third; Hall (E. Palestine) fourth. Distance—118 feet, 2 inches.

SHOT PUT—Lutsch (Salem) won; Fisher (Columbiana) second; Huson (E. Palestine) third; Hall (E. Palestine) fourth. Distance—46 feet, 6 inches.

120-HIGH HURDLES—R. Entriens (Columbiana) won; Morris (Salem) second; Schaeffer (Salem) third; Farnsworth (E. Palestine) fourth. Time—15.9 seconds.

100-YARD DASH—W. Entriens (Columbiana) won; Morris (Salem) second; Bauer (Columbiana) third; Edward Altomare (Leetonia) fourth. Time—15.9 seconds.

POLE VAULT—Lowry (Salem) won; Clark (Salem) and Hill (E. Palestine) tied for second; Fisher (Columbiana) fourth. Height—11 feet.

MILE RUN—Landsberger (E. Palestine) won; Huddleston (Salem) second; Hosack (E. Palestine) third; Culler (Salem) fourth. Time—4 minutes, 41 seconds.

880-YARD RELAY—Columbiana (R. Entriens, W. Entriens, Bauer and Fisher) won; Leetonia second; East Palestine third; Salem fourth. Time—1 minute, 34.7 seconds.

440-YARD DASH—Maloy (East Palestine) won; Armeni (Salem) second; Dickey (Salem) third; Irons (Columbiana) fourth. Time—53.4 seconds.

HIGH JUMP—Lutsch (Salem) won; Holloman (Lisbon) second; Turner (Salem) and DeSelle (Lisbon) tied for third. Height—6 feet.

220-YARD LOW HURDLES—R. Entriens (Columbiana) won; Dunlap (Salem) second; Fisher (Columbiana) third; Farnsworth (E. Palestine) fourth. Time—27.3 seconds.

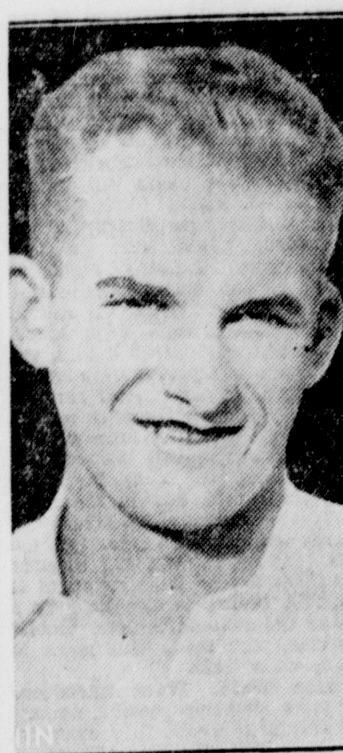

800-YARD RUN—Culler (Salem) and Landsberger (E. Palestine) tied for first; Maloy (E. Palestine) third; Bott (Lisbon) fourth. Time—2 minutes, 7.5 seconds.

BROAD JUMP—W. Entriens (Columbiana) won; Bauer (Columbiana) second; DeSelle (Lisbon) third; Dunlap (Salem) fourth. Distance—23.2 feet.

There are 241 amateurs entered in the Troon tourney which starts on May 23.

LOW HIT GAMES MARK PITCHING IN MAJOR LOOP

Russ Bauers Hurls One-Hit Game For Bucs, But Loses, 1-0

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National leaguers finally have found that new ball that was intended to help the pitchers so much this season.

Four games in the senior circuit produced the following: Two one-hitters, one three and one four-hit hurling job, and some plain and fancy elbowing in the day's major contest, a 12-inning duel between the league-leading New York Giants and the challenging Chicago Cubs.

Although six fingers saw service before Sambo Leslie's pinch single in the 12th gave the Giants a 6-5 triumph, still it was a well pitched game. The first inning produced most of the scoring as the Cubs smashed Cliff Melton for two runs and the Giants came back to drive Tex Carleton off the hill with none out and tally three times.

Thereafter the silent man of the Giants avoided trouble except when Joe Marty poked a homer in the stands with two on base in the sixth and tied the score. Clayton took the lead in the eighth and granted Carleton's place and granted only six hits in 11 1-3 innings.

Melton tired and loaded the sacks with none out in the twelfth but Dick Cofman staged a successful rescue. The Giants went on to win when Bryant let Mel Ott reach second on a pass and sacrifice. Leslie, sent in to hit against Jack Russell, came through with the blow that scored Ott.

The one-hit pitching feat came from Russ Bauers of Pittsburgh, who lost to the Boston Bees 1-0 and qualified for the second round of hard-luck guys, and Fiddler Bill McGee of the St. Louis Cardinals, who beat Brooklyn 2-1.

Bauers took his place right behind the five pitchers in big league history who have pitched no-hit games for nine innings or more and lost them when a wild peg followed the only hit he granted and resulted in the first inning. Elbie Fletcher led off with a walk, Debs Garms shot a single to center and when Lloyd Waner threw toward third, the ball bounced off Fletcher's back, allowing the runner to score. For the Bees, Milt Shoffner pitched three-hit ball and escaped all trouble.

Geddy Rosen, who spoiled a no-hitter for Hal Schumacher earlier in the year, made the only Dodger hit off McGee and the usually reliable Joe Medwick was so surprised he let the ball roll past him and Rosen came home. McGee, who fanned nine, also made two of the Cards' hits off Luke Hamlin.

Paul Derringer pitched Cincinnati's Reds to a 13-1 victory, limiting the Phillies to four blows while his mates collected 22.

The American League also got a share of the fine flinging in its only game as Cleveland's Earl Whitehill set the Athletics down with four blows and beat them 5-1. He received the benefit of Hal Trosky's homer with one aboard.

Three other contests, New York-St. Louis, Boston-Chicago and Washington-Detroit, were rained out.

Release Players

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 18.—The Charleston Mid-Atlantic league baseball club was three players lighter today with release of Catcher Jim Hooser to Beckley and Pitchers Ervin Baker of Fremont, O., and Charles Cronin of Titus, C., outright.

MILE RELAY—Salem (Dunlap, Armeni, Handlick and Dickey) won; East Palestine second; Columbiana third; Leetonia fourth. Time—3 minutes, 42.9 seconds.

District Meets Will Keep Scholastic Athletes Busy

BY FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, May 18.—High school happenings!

Baseball, golf balls, tennis balls and 12-pound lead balls will fly through the air with the greatest of ease on a far-flung front Friday and Saturday as Ohio's scholastic athletes compete in district qualifiers for next week's state high school carnival at Ohio State university.

Perhaps it isn't the biggest sports event of the year, but it will do until someone uncovers a greater one. Take a look at the figures on the district set-up.

Eight track meets, with more than 3,000 boys from 127 Class A schools and 173 Class B schools participating.

Four baseball tournaments, with 2,270 boys from 150 schools playing.

Seven golf tournaments, with 64 schools sending 256 boys into the link wars.

Baseball: Canton McKinley in Class A, and Holgate in Class B.

Tennis: Amorini of Cincinnati Purcell, singles; Kohl-Brown of Dayton Fairview, doubles.

Golf: Kidwell of Columbus Central, individual champion, and Columbus Central team champion.

This week's district tournaments are scheduled at:

Track: Cleveland, Mentor, Salem, Poland, Fremont, Toledo, Springfield and Cincinnati.

Baseball: Columbus, Kent, Kenton, Toledo and Oxford.

Tennis: Columbus, Cleveland, Akron, Bowling Green and Springfield.

Golf: Columbus, St. Clairsville, Scion, Canton, Toledo, Bucyrus and Springfield.

Outside of that, all's quiet on the high school front.

h. B. Whaling, University of Cincinnati coach and tournament manager, has received entries from Dayton, Ohio university, Ohio Wesleyan, Akron, and Miami. Whaling will send his own squad after the title over the Terrace Park course while Xavier and Denison have promised to send a pair of nuncios after individual honors. Western Reserve and Toledo were doubtful starters.

The battle for the team championship, taken last year by Dayton in Boston's lone run, that was in the first inning. Elbie Fletcher led off with a walk, Debs Garms shot a single to center and when Lloyd Waner threw toward third, the ball bounced off Fletcher's back, allowing the runner to score. For the Bees, Milt Shoffner pitched three-hit ball and escaped all trouble.

There is no limit to the number of players from a school, but the coach must designate before medal play begins the four whose scores are to be counted for the team's total.

With Zoltkiewicz and Paul Genung back in the tournament war for the Flyers, the Dayton squad was given an edge in the tourney. The team defeated the Bearcats 1 to 3 at the Dayton Northmoor course but the Cincinnatians held the Gem City squad to a 9-9 tie at a local course.

Terrace Park is not a difficult course, although there is plenty of distance for a true test of long drives.

FELLER SEEKS SERIES SWEEP

Youthful Pitcher After Tribe's Third Win Over Athletics

CLEVELAND, May 18.—Bob Feller received the nod today from Manager Oscar Vitt to take the mound for the Indians in an effort to sweep the three-game series with the Philadelphia Athletics. Lynn Nelson, a right-hander, was nominated to hurl for the A's.

Earl Whitehill held the Macken to four hits yesterday as Cleveland took a 5-1 victory under drizzly skies. It was the third win in as many starts for Whitehill, who had been idle three weeks.

Hal Trosky opened the fourth for the Tribe with a single. Ken Keltner doubled to score him. Whitehill's single brought Keltner home to give the Indians a 2-1 lead.

A triple by Heath, a walk for Averill and a homer by Trosky brought Cleveland's total to five in the seventh frame.

The victory put the second-place Tribe within half a game of the lead, since all other American league clubs were kept idle by bad weather.

Goshen Loses

DAMASCUS, May 18.—Greenford High school's baseball team defeated Goshen High, 8 to 1, at Lake Placenta's diamond yesterday. Snyder, pitcher of Greenford, held the Goshens to three hits. Fryogle hurled for the locals.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Gino Garibaldi, 220, St. Louis, defeated Wally Dusek, 211, Omaha, 14-15. (Dusek hurt ankle and unable to continue).

Record Crowd Expected at 10th Sokol Congress

View of the Sokol congress

Travelers from all parts of the world are now converging on Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, for the 10th Sokol congress, the world's largest mass calisthenic and gymnast show. More than 60,000 athletes will participate in the games which extend from July 2 to 6. It is expected that upwards of 200,000 persons will witness the demonstration, one feature of which will be a gigantic historical pageant, celebrating the 20th anniversary of the republic's liberation and honoring Dr. Eduard Benes, president. The Sokol society was formed in 1862 and is designed to elevate the physique of the citizenry of the nation. Its enrollment comprises some 900,000 members.

CHINAS ASSURE THEMSELVES OF TIE IN LEAGUE

Blank Demings, 14-0, For Fifth Win In Class A Softball Loop

Assuring themselves of at least a tie for the first round championship in the Class A Softball league, the Salem Chinas trounced Demings, 14 to 0, at Centennial park last evening for their fifth victory in six games.

The Chinas have completed their first round schedule, but chances are slim that they will gain sole possession of the title. The Old Timers, who have one first round game left, and the Ohio Edison, which has two contests remaining, have each lost only one game. One or the other of these teams is expected to tie the Chinas for the first round title.

The two-hit pitching of Dale Ritchie featured the Chinas triumph over the Pump-makers. Ritchie also collected three hits out of four trips to the plate to share batting honors with Grady Odum, who had three for three, and D. Zeigler, who had two for three.

The Old Timers posted their fourth win in five games in the other Class A contest, blanking Mullins Foremen, 5 to 0.

George Earley allowed only four hits in holding the Foremen scoreless. He also paced the veterans in batting with two hits out of two jaunts to the plate. Cliff Greenisen and Mike Schuller connected for home runs for the Old Timers.

The Columbians remained in the Class B first round race in one of the junior circuit's two games by spanking the Christians, 4 to 1. William (Gabby) Guappone worked three hits out of four trips to the plate, allowing four hits. The Columbians took eight hits from the offerings of Pitcher Lyons of the Christians.

The defending champion Emmanuel Lutherans registered their second win in four games in the other Class B tilt, defeating the Trinity Lutherans, 11 to 2. The win boosted the Emmansuels into a tie for fourth.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, May 18.—Sports writers here with the Cubs say if there is a niftier third sacker than Stanley Hack in either major league, they are willing to learn. Leonard Crawley, one of the British Walker cuppers, hits 200 practice balls each morning before breakfast. Henry Armstrong drew a snappy bit on the air last night.

Reg pardon dept.: That squib last week about North Carolina having the most professional baseball leagues—29—drew a howl from Texas. Even the gillies wrote in to claim the honor for Texas, which boasts 24. Dizzy Dean and Tex Coppers, former teammates on the Cardinals and now together on the Cubs, have kissed and made up.

Yesterday was Norwegian Fourth of July. Joe McCarthy had promised his Norwegian catcher, Arndt Jorgens, he could catch the game against the Browns. Just when Arndt got all steamed up for what may be his only chance behind the plate this season, the game was rained out. The lads along Broadway are going strong for War Admiral against Seabiscuit.

Lieut. Joseph P. Murray, who for years has had the Yankee stadium and the Polo Grounds as a regular assignment and who probably knows more big-league players than any New York cop, retired yesterday. Joe Marty, young Cub outfield star, who noked out a homer with two on yesterday, gives Tony Lazzeri credit for his improved hitting.

Says Tony made him change his stance. My Ul, the old Minnesota football star, is going great guns as the new district passenger agent for the Northwestern lines in Chicago. The Reds once played a complete ball game with only two balls. The first was hit into the stands early in the pastime. Three dozen balls are used in an average major league game. Secret of Galt's amazing comeback at the plate is the fact that he had a film-like growth removed from his right eye.

DER MOXIE SURE HE'LL BEAT JOE

Predicts Victory As He Leaves For Training Camp To Work Out

SPECULATOR, N. Y., May 18.—Max Schmeling got down to work today to prepare himself to meet Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in New York June 22.

"I'll beat that Looie again," he smilingly told all comers as they sought to shake his hand enroute to the 11-room hunting lodge he will share with Max Machon, his trainer, and Joe Jacobs, his American manager.

"You bet," agreed Jacobs. "But don't ask us to call the round. 'Rounds don't matter. It's just doing the job that counts—a job like Max did on Looie the last time."

Two years ago Max was the man who "saw zumthings" in Louis' defenses and knocked the present champion out.

"CON" MEN PLY EAST FLORIDA

Police Estimate 60 Percent of Swindlers Never Reported

MIAMI, Fla. — Along Florida's "gold coast," stretching from Palm Beach here, an army of confidence men ply their trade during the winter season, liberally fleecing "suckers," authorities here revealed.

Working in gangs, pairs and individually, the "con" men were estimated to have taken more than $10,000,000 from their victims, who included financiers, prosperous retired farmers, college graduates and people in all walks of life.

Sixty per cent of the swindlers were never reported, authorities said, and 20 per cent of the charged victims in reporting their losses made police give assurance their names would not be revealed. Such action, police lamented, virtually eliminated any chance of bringing a swindler to justice.

Betting Swindle Worked
Proximity of the Miami and Palm Beach areas to the state's two horse race tracks — Hialeah and Tropical parks — made the horse race betting swindle the "con" man's most profitable racket in South Florida.

The horse race betting scheme almost cost one man $250,000 and in a few known cases took the entire savings of several retired business men.

The victim is led to believe that his "friends" credited a wager with a booking agent and won a huge amount of money, which they cannot collect until they prove they could have produced the wager they had lost.

The victim is told if he "loans" them the amount of the wager to show the booking agent he will receive a percentage of the amount won. Later, the trusting victim goes to a designated spot to meet his "friends" and collect his winnings and his "loan." The swindlers never show up.

British Industrialist Saved
The plan has variations, equally effective. The scheme outlined almost cost a British industrialist, who refused to permit use of his name, $250,000. A Miami banker refused to give him the money when the British told him why he wanted it. When their intended victim failed to return, the swindlers fled.

A crude but effective coin-matching game made sporadic appearances in public gatherings. Its operation usually produced anywhere from $5 to $5,000 a victim, authorities said.

The victim of the coin game envisions tremendous profit by becoming a swindler himself. The "con" men work the scheme in pairs. One engages the victim in conversation and points out the other swindler as a stranger they could "take" in an "odd-man" game.

The "stranger" and the victim lose equal amounts to the victim's "friend," who disappears after the game with a whispered promise to "meet you later and we'll split."

Various other "con games" added profits to the swindlers' winter take, including the time-honored shell game, which police said cost one man $3,000.

Spring Byington and Jed Prouty as the elder "Jones" in the Jones Family tale "A Trip to Paris" showing Thursday only at the State.

A Jones Family picture, one of filmdom's most home-spun and most human contributions to film entertainment, is booked for Thursday at the State. The picture will be seen the one day only.

This time, this consistently laugh-provoking group appears in "A Trip to Paris." Advance reviewers have declared this picture to be the funniest adventure America's favorite film folks ever have embarked upon.

Two Pares:
Ma and Dad Jones (again portrayed by Spring Byington and Jed Prouty) have wanted to take this trip for years—and this time they do it by accident. Dad, according to the story drops the remark that the money he has secured from the sale of some property is going to finance a vacation at Paris Falls. Before he gets home the back-fence gossip brigade has preceded him with a garbled rumor. He finds his whole family set to leave for Paris, France. And he hasn't the heart to burst the bubble.

Dad's Money Parley-Voos
So it's "let the newlyweds (Shirley Deane and Russell Gleason) take care of the house," and away they go. Ma Jones does the rumba, Lucy does the Latin quarter, Jack and Roger get involved in a spy plot and Dad discovers that the Rue de la Paix is spelled "P-A-Y"—aided chiefly by Cousin Willie (Harold Huber).

Ken Howell, George Ernest, June Carson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan are also featured in their familiar family roles. The cast also includes Marvin Stephens and Joan Valerie.

Showing for the last time tonight at the State are: "The Divorce of Lady X" with Merle Oberon, Lawrence Olivier and Binnie Barnes; and "Go Chase Yourself" featuring Joe Penner, Lucille Ball and June Travis.

Story of Prisoners
The Grand Thursday only feature will be "Prison Nurse," starring Henry Wilcoxon and Marian Marsh. The story is an accurate and realistic portrayal of prison life, the problems which those in

Recover 33 Bodies
From Atlanta Hotel

ATLANTA, May 18.—Firemen and laborers today reached the end of their gruesome search for bodies in the ruins of the burned Terminal hotel—a search which already had yielded 33 bodies.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield ordered additional city workers into the ruins today with the hope that all debris could be removed by nightfall.

Seven bodies were recovered yesterday. Three victims of the Monday morning blaze, two men and one woman, are unidentified.

Beauty—and a Smart Student, Too

HAZEL McDEVITT MUSKINGUM COLLEGE

NEW CONCORD, OHIO — Proof that brains and beauty do mix was offered by the students of Muskingum college recently when Miss Hazel McDevitt, Uhrichville co-ed, was elected May queen, to reign over the annual May day festival on the campus Friday.

Miss McDevitt, whose beauty has twice before been recognized by the students at Muskingum, has been an honor student for the greater part of her four years in college. In addition she is one of the most versatile of the Muskingum co-eds.

Her pedigree reads something like this: Thrice beauty queen—member of the Owens, national, honorary scholastic council—student council, member of the capella choir, the college symphony orchestra, and other musical groups.

Her versatility is further indicated by her musical ability. A major in the Muskingum conservatory of music, she can sing, play the piano or organ and is the only woman trumpeter to gain a seat in the symphony here in recent years.

Eyes of Industry on Kentucky

Charles I. Dawson

Brian McMahon

Here are rival counsels in the trial at London, Ky., where the government hopes to establish a broad principle of law which will put teeth into the Wagner labor relations act. Charles I. Dawson, left, former federal judge, heads the defense for 69 individuals and 22 corporations charged with conspiring to prevent Harlan county coal miners from organizing, while Brian McMahon, right, assistant U. S. attorney general, heads the prosecution. Millions of workers and hundreds of corporations will be affected by the decision.
